DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-9, 11,12 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Seko, et al (4,463,347).

Seko discloses a method for detecting the attention level of a vehicle operator, wherein a steering performance of the vehicle operator is monitored, characterized in that a phase relationship between a change of a steering angle 1a of at least one steerable wheel (not shown) of the vehicle and a change of the steering wheel angle is evaluated. The phase relationship is evaluated during time intervals when steering motions of the vehicle are not caused by an intentional steering action of the vehicle operator (see col. 3, line 43 -col. 4, line 3). The phase relationship is evaluated within a time interval where the change of the steering wheel angle 1a follows a change of the steering angle. The length of the time interval is evaluated. A slope of the steering wheel angle 1a during the time interval is evaluated, see figure 2. The slope of the steering wheel angle 1a is compared to a slope of the steering angle. The length of the time interval and/or the slope is compared with at least one predefinable limit value. A frequency with which the at least one limit value is exceeded during a predefinable time interval is monitored. At least one action is initiated when the at least one limit value is reached within a predefinable deviation, when the at least one limit value is exceeded and/or when the at least one limit value is exceeded with a frequency greater than a predefined frequency. Seko teaches a haptic message 10. Seko teaches a device for detecting the attention level of a vehicle operator with at least one sensor device 1 detecting the steering performance of the vehicle and with a signal measurement and evaluation unit 2 capable of generating a signal 1a corresponding to the attention level, the signal depending on a phase relationship between a steering angle of at least one steerable wheel (not shown) of the vehicle and a steering wheel angle. Stepped actions are initiated depending on a detected attention level.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 10, 13 and 14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
